TRIIS THEM KRUGER EXPECTS TO GET AID IN EUROPE. Sare He and De Wet Will Invade Cape Colony

Where Many Dutch Are Ready to Join Them Plan to Organize a Force of 20.000 Armed British Residents of the Rand. Special Cable Desputch to THE SUN.

From a Staff Correspondent JOHANNESSTRO, Dec. 1.—A resident of This decisi states that that town is now strongly garri-soned. Gen De Wet and ex-President Steyn tinue the fight. He said that Mr. Kruger had gone to Europe to address the nations in behalf of the republics, and that he had every hope of success. It was untrue that Mr. Kruger had taken a large quantity of gold with him. He was a true patriot.

Mr. Stevn added that he was going with Gen De Wet to the Orange Free State to reorganize the commandoes there. They would then go into the Cape Colony, where many of the Dutch were ready to take up arms against the British, and where they would obtain pienty of supplies.

Gov. McKenzie made an important speech. He said that he would follow the custom beerved by Ministers in many of the colonies of making a forecast of the Government's policy at the banquets given on St. Andrew's day. He declared that it had been decided that all British subjects of suitable age should in the future bear arms. He expected that when the citizens of Johannesburg returned to the district they would organize an armed ferce of 20,000 men, which would be named the Rand Rifles. This force would be able to defend the district against any possible hostile force in South Africa. This was in the interests of the people, who would thus be enabled to resume industry without fear of interruption. A probable result of the war would be that the principle of a nation in arms instead of a grand standing army would be accepted throughout the Empire. He believed that the beneficial training, physical development and independence of the race would not interfere with its commercial and industrial progress. Germany, with conscription, was making a great industrial edvance. The plan he mentioned was not conscription, but voluntary training. Gov. McKenzie thanked the society for the references made to the administration, and said he was doing his best to continue the government until the civil authorities were Messrs. Hoskin, Dunn and others referred to the war as inevitable, saying it resulted from the irreconciliable conditions prevalling in South Africa, which were due to the Boers having diverged from their peaceful progress of fifty years ago.

ENGLISH WELCOME CONSUL STOWE. Our Representative at Cape Town Arrives in London Wearing a Bullet-Marked Coat.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. SOUTHAMPTON, Dec. 4 .- James G. Stowe, the American Consul-General at Cape Town, whose attitude during the Boer war made him very popular, arrived here this morning on the transport Assaye. He was loudly cheered as he walked down the gangplank, and several persons in the crowd waved the Stars and Stripes. It appears that when the Boers attacked the train on which Mr. Stowe was travelling to Pretoria several bullets struck him, but he was not seriously injured. When he wore when the train was attacked and a bullet hole in the collar was plainly visible. THIS ROER URGES SUBMISSION. Paul Botha Denounces Steyn, and Says All Can Live Peaceably Under British Rule. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

CAPE Town, Dec 4 - Paul Botha, who was a member of the Grange Free State Volksraad for twenty-one years, has issued a pamphlet appealing to his fellow country men to accept the inevitable and recognize British rule, which, he says, is alone possible in South Africa, although Great Britain's weak and spasmodic policy in the past was s grave mistake. He says that he has repeatedly but vainly appealed to Stevn and De Wet to cease fighting. He bitterly attacks Steyn. He predicts that Brittons and Boers will eventually live peaceably together under the British flag.

Ex-Chief Justice De Villiers, of the Orange Free State, has written to the press deploring the continuance of the fighting. He urges the clergy to intercede with ex-President Steyn and the other Boer leaders to bring it to an end. He says that the Dutch Reformed Church could not fulfil a higher mission than that of securing peace, and adds that it is its plain duty, however distasteful it may be, to induce its people to yield to save the country from misery and

In part:

If can truthfully say that I did not seek this reelection. At the mere suggestion that It might be for the party's advantage for some man not heretofore particularly active in local politics to be selected to preside over your deliberations during the year 1901. I readily assented to the change suggested.

If have at all times been not only ready but anxious to do what may have seemed for the best interests of the Republican party.

A year and a half ago, without the slightest suggestion from any one, I invited Mr. Schieren, Mr. Russell and Mr. Richards to a conference, which was held in Mr. McKeen's office, and there suggested to them that one of their number, or some one they might name, take my place as chairman of your body, if this action met with your approval, and if the party's prospects could be improved thereby. These gentlemen assured me that they did not desire me to resign. I would not have referred to this matter were it not for the discussion which has been precipitated in the public press recently and which has caused undue comment.

In conclusion I beg to say that I have not can truthfully say that I did not seek

POLEY TO FIGHT DIVVER And Try and Wrest the Tammany Leadership

Away From Him. Big Tom Poley, as he is known throughout the East Side, who, with Congressman Daniel J. Riordan, resigned from the P. Divver Association of the Second Assembly district on Monday evening under pressure from the Hon. P. Divver, announced yesterday that he was going to fight Mr. Divver for the Tammany leadership in the district from now until the primaries next fall, and that e expected that every young man in the district would help him Politicians around the City Hall said that if Mr. Foley decided to fight Mr. Divver, the Hon. Timothy D. Sullivan, leader of the Sixth district, might help him and that the ex-Police Justice would have to hustle. Mr. Foley has been regarded as an anti-Divver man ever since Mr. Divver appear to feel very badly yesterday because he had been forced out of the Divver association.

"I resigned," he said, "because the Divver club doesn't represent true Democracy. I made up my mind I could use the money I put into the club to better advantage among the poor people in the district. Divver doesn't give anything to our poor people but a bluff, and a bluff wont buy a dinner. He showed what kind of a man he was in 1898, when a lot of his election officers were arrested and sentenced and he went away to California until it blew over. Look how he turned the Congressman down! Riordan didn't know anything about it. I met the Congressman on Thanksgiving Day, and he said. 'Foley, why don't you go in for the leadership?' I didn't care for it, but I said 'Why not?' That's all there is to it. Asto dislovality, that charge is a lie. I worked for Creamer all through the campaign. The Democrats wanted Riordan, but Creamer just pulled through."

Congressman Riordan said vesterday that the Divver Association was full of talebearers and petty factions, and that he, as President, had been subjected to backbiting until he got tired and decided to get out. Riordan worked for Creamer during the campaign.

Divver's friends think that he is safe in the leadership because they expect Croker to help him carry the district. Mr Croker interfered personally in the affairs of the district last fall and dictated the nomination of Creamer for Congress.

After saying that the triumph of he Republican party will incite the trusts to "run riot" and bring about over-production that will result in a panic before the end of the second McKinley Administration, he

"The Democratic party presents a picture never before exhibited in the political gallery. Its platform looks as if a cyclone had revised it and its demoralization is complete. There is no longer room for a party that seeks to ride into office by straddling the class issue. With the double-dealing Democratic party doomed, the political atmosphere will clear up and the working class will rally with the Social Democrat party. And yet the capitalist class cannot afford to allow the Democratic party to retire from business. It must be used to arrest the progress of socialism, and so it is entirely probable that the radical element will be given full permission to galvanize the corpse with an injection of public ownership.

A call is issued for a national convention to be held in Chicago on Jan. 15, to adopt a plan for an aggressive campaign of organization. Beforing to the vote polled by the party. VAN COTT WANTS NEW COUNT. Asks Court to Order Inspection of Ballots Returned Vold or Defective.

Richard Van Cott who according to the Micial canvass was defeated for Congress n the Eighth district on the Republican ticket by 171 plurality by Thomas J. Creamer moved before Justice Leventritt of the Supreme Court vesterday for an examination f the void and defective ballots. His counsel, Alfred R. Conkling, said that ballots are kept under the present law in envelopes by the County Clerk for six months after election for the purposes of such inspection. He said that in one election district eleven ballots should have been accorded to the country of the countr cepted which were rejected.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Alfred C.
Butts opposed the motion because the allegations of Mr. Van Cott were on information and belief and he did not show what change would be made by the acceptance of ballots improperly rejected.

Justice Leventritt said that even if there were incidental defects in the motion papers it was the policy of the law to permit such inspection. He reserved decision.

UNCLE SAM NABS A BROKER

JOSEPH HALK ARRESTED FOR VIOLAT-ING WAR TAX LAW

Placed in Custody on the Floor of the Consoli dated Exchange Forty Other Brokers on Exchange vesterday afternoon charged with violating the Internal Revenue laws. At o'clock, when the trading was at its height two men approached the gateman on the floor, but were stopped when they attempted When the broker came to the gate he was informed by the strangers that they were Deputy United States Marshal McAvainny and Deputy Revenue Clerk Taylor and they served a warrant charging Halk with not by which every person selling shares of stock is obliged to affix $2 worth of revenue stamps | NATIONAL SUFFRAGE FAIR. to every memorandum of a sale or agreement mitted to finish up some trading, after which he was taken before United States Commissioner Shields. At the request of his lawyer, Charles F. Bauerdorp, the !Commissioner held the prisoner in $1,000 bonds for hearing on Dec. 14.

Halk went directly back to the Consolidated Exchange and resumed his business dealings. When he had concluded he in-formed a number of his associates of what had taken place and they were much surhad taken place and they were much sur-prised. So quietly had Halk's arrest been effected, although this was just the reverse of what the officers had hoped for, that only those immediately concerned knew of it. When the hearing ended Internal Revenue Inspector Thompson gave out the following statement in regard to the matter: "The arrest is but the beginning of a war we have started against many brokers against whom we have evidence. Halk was taken first simply because of the violators we are about to move against he was the most flag-rant. More arrests will follow at any time now, as we have evidence against almost forty brokers.

about to move against he was the most flagrant. More arrests will follow at any time now, as we have evidence against almost forty brokers

"When Congress first passed the act many brokers regarded it lightly and several made boasts that they would not comply with it. We heard of this and I wrote a long letter of warning to the officers of the Consolidated Exchange which was read to all the members on the floor. I watched the matter closely and found that this warning had but little effect. Certain of the brokers went on in the same manner they had followed before the passage of the act. Others would affix stamps in about one in a dozen cases.
Then I summoned seventy brokers whose stamping of memorandum of sales I knew to be irregular to my office. I explained to them all that we were fully aware of the flagrant manner in which they were violating the law. They admitted their guilt and I allowed them to compromise by payment of certain sums. At that time we warned these traders that the first time we found them violating the stamp law thereafter we would show them no mercy.

"We have since ascertained that this warning only served to organize these brokers so that they could assist each other in evading the law. In some cases they gave up making out memoranda altogether, while in others they made records of sales over the telephone.
To catch these offenders we secured the assistance of several members of the Exchange, who we knew were complying with the law, as well as several messenger boys and telephone operators employed there, and in this way we obtained enough evidence to warrant making arrests at once.

"As for Halk, he is one of the largest traders the Consolidated Exchange, and also the phone operators employed there, and in this way we obtained enough evidence to warrant making arrests at once.

"As for Halk, he is one of the largest traders on the Consolidated Exchange and also the most flagrant violator. His arrest was made at the Exchange simply to give intimation to the other suspects of our intentions to prosecute. From the books in our possession we find that on only one of about thirty memorand did Halk affix the required revenue atamps. The penalty provided by law calls for a fine of $1,000 or six months' imprisonment for each failure to affix stamps."

Joseph Halk, who is 42 years old, has been a member of the Consolidated Exchange for fifteen years. His average transactions are about 1,000 shares a day. He is a member of the Liederkranz, and his office is in the Consolidated Exchange building. He lives at the Hotel St. Andrew.

To investigate book hazing.

Representative Driggs introduces a Resolution in the House of Representatives.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Representative Driggs of New York to-day introduced a resolution providing for the investigation by the Secretary of War of "hazing" at West Point, especially the "hazing" of Oscar L. Booz, who died recently, it is alleged, from the effects of injuries so received.

PHILADSIPHIA, Dec. 4.—William H. Boos father of Oscar L. Booz, the former West Point cadet who died at his home in Bristol yesterday of consumption of the throat, said by members of his family to have been caused by injuries received while being hazed by the cadets two years ago, thinks that the was a coward is disproved by the gifortiude with which he bore his sufferings and the determination with which he refused to give the names of any of those who participated in the brutal sport of which he was needed to be caused by injuried the hazing was due not to a dislike of his son personally. Mr. Booz said to-day:

"Oscar went to West Point to study. He was no boxer, and did not think it necessary to be a puglist in order to maintain his position in the school. The statement that he was a coward is disproved by the gifortiude with which he bore his sufferings and the determination with which he refused to give the names of any of those who participated in the brutal sport of which he was made the subject."

Dr. S. Solis Cohen said there were evidences of injury to the young man's throat which might have been caused by swallowing either willingly or unwillingly liquid like tabasco sauce.

WANTS HONORARY NOMINATION As Jersey Senator. Say Friends of ex-Senator James Smith - Back in Politice?

was reported in Jersey City yesterday that former United States Senator Jame Smith of Newark had made overtures to the Hudson county legislators to secure the Hudson county legislators to secure the complimentary nomination of Senator to succeed William J Sewell, who will be relected by the Republican majority in the Legislature. Mr Smith said some time ago that he was out of politics, but his friends say he now wants to get back. Robert Davis, the Democratic leader in Hudson county aspires to be State leader and is not disposed to give Mr. Smith any sid in furthering his political aspirations. Consequently the eleven Hudson Assemblymen and one State Senator are opposed to giving Mr. Smith the complimentary nomination. The Hudson men comprises majority of the Democratic minority.

NOVEL BAZAAR IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN CONCERT HALL.

The Entertainment Is Under the Direction of the National American Woman Suffrage League -Character Reading An Attraction

The National Suffrage baraar, which is going on in the concert hall of the Madison Square Garden under the auspices of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, was devoted yesterday afternoon to phrenological demonstrations upon the heads of two mem bers of the association and in the evening to a procession that was intended to give an allegorical presentation of the surrender of the fighting men of the earth's peoples to the spirit of liberty and peace. Owing to the inclemency of the weather and the difficulty of making a procession of persons who did not understand English know what they were doing, and the lack of general head to the procession the planned surrender of arms did not take place. But the procession marched around the hall seven times and Liberty in the person of Mrs. Alvah H. Halstead reviewed the marchers.

The phrenological demonstration in the afternoon was made by Prof. Jessie A. Fowler Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the chairman of the Central Committee of the Woman Suffrage organization, was the first subject of Prof. Fowler's powers. The examination disclosed nothing new about Mrs. Catt's character, although it confirmed many previous impressions people have had about her. For instance Prof. Fowler discovered that Mrs Catt's most remarkable characteristic was executive ability. Mrs. Catt, i also appeared would have seemed ahead of her time in any age into which she might have been born, she was so remarkably progressive. She had the head of a great reasoner on great questions, Prof. Fowler discovered, and was a moving public speaker. She was one bound to shine in any movement, but particularly in any movement in which she was bound to share the control of the control of the control of the central committee, was the Treasurer of the Central Committee, was the Newton of the Central Committee, was the Newton of the Central Committee, was the Land of the Said. The is a very unfortunate individual because you are likely to build a fire under his chair to wake him up.

The pleasure of the afternoon's entertainment was marred by the lamentations of a small colored girl about 4 years old, who trotted about the floor and wailed with no uncertain voice that she wanted her grandmother. She was a comical little thing and was more provocative of laughter than sympathy for a few minutes. But her tones grew more insistent and a circle of young and old women gathered around her and wanted to know what the trouble was.

WHOLESALE VACCINATION.

Forty-two Cases Altogether of Smallpox So Far and One Death.

The Health Board vaccinators kept at work vester day until the supply of virus on hand was nearly exhausted. Physicians who applied for vaccine in vials were referred to wholesale drug houses. The Health Department had already sold enough to vaccinate 15,000 or 20,000 people, and its doctors have vaccinated about 5,000 people themselves. Health Commissioner Cosby came around and told Dr. Blauvelt, head of the Contagious Disease Bureau, to notify his men that they must expect to work night as well as day if necessary and would lose their jobs if they obsected.

Most of the vaccinators were busy yeaterday on the upper West Side. Several were sent around through the residential district around West Seventy-second street to follow up the case of the son of Edmund Nash of 222 West Seventy-second street. They also went to Public School 24 at Amsterdam avenue and Sixty-eighth street and vaccinated nearly one hundred of the pupils. The sohool was not closed.

Caroline Brandon of 191 West End avenue and Lizzie O'Leary, a dressmaker, of 201 West End avenue, were removed yesterday, suffering from smilpox. There are several cases under observation. Mary Holmes, who was removed to North Brother Island from 235 West Seventy-sixth street, has died there. It is the first death in forty-two cases.

Vaccinations at the bureau in the Health Department at Fifty-fifth street and Sixth avenue have averaged about three hundred a day since Thanksgiving Day. Those who came at first were nearly all residents of the infected district, but on Monday and yesterday people came from all over the city. A number of them were employed in hotels, on rallroads, on steamship lines, in stores or in places where a lot of men or women are thrown together in their work. The doctors used sordinary sewing needles to seratch the skin on the arms of the patients, and the virus was applied with no more important an article than a toothpick, afresh needle and a fresh toothpick being used on each case.

While a Sun reporter was in the bureau a tall young man who appeared to be very healthy was being vaccinated. He suddenly complained of faintness. One of the doctors immediately laid the man flat on his doctors a bench back on a bench.
"That's nothing to be ashamed of," said the doctor. "I have seen big policemen

some of the strongest men can't look at blood.

Dr. Blauvelt said last night that he had been greatly bothered by people who get him on the telephone. One woman asked him to look over a couple of servants she had just employed, as she was afraid they might have smallpox. A man sent a basket of clothes to the Health Department yesterday with a note asking that the clothes be "baked."

Dr. Roger S. Tracy of the Burcau of Vital Statistics hunted up some of his records yesterday and discovered what he regarded as a curious series of periodic outbreaks of smallpox. Every sixth year since 1874, according to Dr. Tracy, there has been an outbreak of the disease. In 1875 there were 3,307 cases. In 1876 and 1877 the number diminished until in 1875 there were only five. In 1881 the number jumped up to 1,338. In 1882 there were only 702 cases, in 1883 only 25 and in 1884 only five. In 1887, the sixth year again, there were 343. In the next five

Tiffany & Co. Diamond and Precious

Stone Jewelry Grand Prix, Paris Exposition, 1900

Tiffany & Co. have been for many years the largest dealers in diamonds and precious stones in the United States, and their trade now exceeds that of any similar house in the world. Their connections in many different countries and their facilities for securing the choicest gems from first hands enable them to maintain the most comprehensive stock, and to offer patrons many other advantages not obtainable elsewhere. Their workshops are under the immediate management of the firm, and every piece of jewelry, before leaving the shop, must pass critical test and examination for assurance that it is worthy to bear the stamp of the house.

years there were few cases, but in 1893 there were 464. The only break of consequence in the series was in 1894, when there were 770 case. Counting from 1894 this is a sixth year again.

Stock Exchange Employees Must Get Vaccinated.

The employees of the Stock Erchange concerns whose duty it is to take charge at the Exchange of their firm's telephones were all notified by Supt. Dillon of the Exchange yesterday that they must be vaccinated at once by their own physician or submit to-day to vaccination at the Exchange by physicians of the Board of Health. There are more than three hundred persons affected by the order.

EIGHT RILLED. TWENTY INJURED. Freight Train Crashes Into a Work Train on the Southern Pacific.

BAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4 -- During a heavy og this morning a westbound freight train on the Southern Pacific crashed into a work train of five cars and an engine, near Suteun, Cal, killing eight workmen and injuring twenty. The disaster was due to the carelessness of the conductor of the work train, who knew the freight train was due, but continued to back his train upon the main track.

DON'T NEED REST.

Starved Nerves Need Food. A food that will naturally stimulate and nourish a man so weak that be cannot feed himself, must have intrinsic merit and be worthy the attention of any person with a weak stomach S. D. Horine of Grinnell, Iowa, writes: "By pure food seems to ma the true way to get well. After a long time at one of the best equipped sanitariums. without benefit, I was put under a famous doctor who said that I did not need rest so much as I needed rich pure blood, made from pure food, and I was put on Grape-Nuts. "At that time I had to be lifted from my bed like a baby. This was only a few weeks ago. Now I can walk, read, write, and perform many little tasks. I have not fully recovered my strength, by any means, but I have made a most wonderful progress on Grape-Nuts food. It leads me to the knowledge that nervous prostration is simply nerve starvation. The nerves are prostrated because they are starved. A starved man does not need rest, but he needs food.

To be sure the famished nerves are forced to rest, but rest cannot restore them. They can build up on food alone. With my first meal of Grape-Nuts food I was too weak to feed myself, but after partisking of the food, a hopeful spirit, almost amounting to buse ancy, possessed me.

I can account for the speedy effect of the food on no other ground than that it is socially digested that only a little time and force is required to prepare it for the blood, whereas ordinary food requires so much force to digest that the valuests what strength a weak man has and leaves the food undigested, ready for decomposition, and changes what should be good food into a veritable poison. Easy digestion and rapid assimilation makes Grape-Nuts the ideal food for any one.—Aft. bed like a baby. This was only a few weeks
